

GLORY at EuroCIS 2022: Hybrid, contactless and secure – checkout models for an optimised shopping experience

The payment expert will be presenting its future-oriented cash management solutions, including the tried-and-tested CASHINFINITY™ series and Acrelec kiosk systems, both virtually and at the stand.

Neu-Isenburg/Düsseldorf, 30 May 2022 - From 31 May to 2 June 2022, the 25th EuroCIS is taking place in Düsseldorf. GLORY will also be present at the anniversary edition of the most important trade fair for retail technology in Europe. Under the motto “The Optimised Checkout Experience – Hybrid, contactless and secure”, GLORY will be presenting the future of payment in Hall 9, Stand A04. With its modern cash management solutions, the payment expert will present innovative technologies that are the response to changing purchasing behaviour as well as current trends and developments in the retail environment.

The past few years have presented retailers with a number of new challenges. The Covid-19 pandemic and digitalisation, which has become autonomous and accelerated significantly in many areas, are permanently changing customer behaviour and thus the entire industry. Innovative concepts are absolutely essential in order to be prepared appropriately for these uncertainties. Hybrid checkout models, for example, show how this can be achieved, making processes more efficient, digital and secure. At EuroCIS, visitors to the GLORY stand can gain a comprehensive insight into such concepts and the underlying technical solutions.

In a hybrid checkout, the scanning and payment process is distributed over several stations: In addition to the traditional employee-serviced checkout, self-checkouts (SCO), payment stations as well as pre-order and shop-in-shop stations with and without payment options are also used. The hybrid model distributes customers, even at peak times and significantly shortens waiting times. Customers are also able to shop and pay as per their preferences and benefit from an improved shopping experience.

Manage cash efficiently for 10 years with CASHINIFINITY™

Cash technology solutions are a key component of the hybrid checkout model. The CASHINIFINITY™ series offers retailers a range of advantages, including increased time savings and efficiency (as manual activities such as the manual counting of change are eliminated), increased security (due to the integrated safe solution and the detection of counterfeit money) or increased hygiene (as employees do not come into contact with cash). At EuroCIS, GLORY will present how the technology can be integrated into a range of checkout models and individual store designs – from the pre-order kiosk or the fully integrated counter solution with CI-5 to self-checkout terminals with CI-10 to pay towers with high banknote capacity and secure vault storage based on the CI-50.

State-of-the-art kiosk solutions from Acrelec

In addition to the CASHINIFINITY™ series, GLORY will also be presenting modern kiosk solutions from Acrelec at the stand, which will raise store and restaurant concepts to a higher (digital) level. Forward-thinking hardware and software technologies are helping retailers and system restaurateurs increase operational efficiency, serve more guests more quickly, and create additional upselling opportunities. Available in a variety of customisable configurations, styles and sizes, they are very easy to integrate with existing POS systems.

In addition to solutions for optimised cash handling in the front office, GLORY will also be showcasing products designated for the back office. These supplement the POS systems by adding automation and digitalisation of cash in a consistent manner to typical back office activities, thus solving the general problems associated with manual cash processing.

Virtual presence thanks to GLORY V-SQUARE

GLORY is responding to the requirements of the new normal with a hybrid trade fair concept: Retailers can not only obtain the valuable impulses and insights at the GLORY stand in Hall 9, they also have the opportunity to visit virtually. The GLORY V-SQUARE, the virtual platform for retail, depicts the trade fair stand digitally. Anyone who is not able to attend in person can also experience the GLORY solutions.
